

Quatuor Magenta

The Quatuor Magenta is a string quartet founded in 2021 and based in Paris. For the upcoming seasons, the quartet is ensemble in residence at Proquartet - Centre Européen de Musique de Chambre and junior artist in residence at the Singer-Polignac Foundation.

Finalist at the 8th Joseph Haydn Chamber Music Competition in Vienna, the quartet also won prizes at the 2023 FNAPEC competition (Académie des Beaux-Arts scholarship) and the ZukunftsKlang Competition Stuttgart 2022 (3rd prize).

The Quatuor Magenta has been invited to perform at numerous festivals in France, including the Festival de Radio France Montpellier, the Musikfest Parisienne, the Festival de la Chaise-Dieu, Un Été en France with Gautier Capuçon, the Modigliani Quartet's Festival Vibre !, and the International Piano Festival in la Roque d'Anthéron, as well as in Switzerland (Festival de la Collégiale in Neuchâtel) and in Germany (Klangraum Konzerte in Cologne). They are featured on flutist Julien Beaudiment's album California Dreamin' which was released in 2023 on Klarthe.

This season, contemporary music has pride of place with Quatuor Magenta's participation in the Kronos Quartet's "50 for the Future" Marathon at the Philharmonie de Paris's String Quartet Biennial, as well as a recording project of Olivier Korber's string quartet and performances of Yves Balmer's string quartet in spring 2024.

The Quatuor Magenta studies with the Quatuor Ébène at their quartet academy at the University of Music and Performing Arts Munich, with the Quatuor Modigliani in the new Élite program at the École Normale de Musique de Paris, and with Rainer Schmidt of the Hagen Quartett at the Basel University of Music. They are grateful for the support of the Culture and Musique Foundation (Fondation de France) and that of ADAMI, and they work with Chapeau l'Artiste Production.
